

TIME	TITLE	DESCRIPTION	ADDITIONAL INFO
00:00 5'	Announcement of debates within groups and clarification of rules	In the introduction, the facilitator explains that today's method will be a form of debate, but that everyone will be divided into groups of four and that everyone within the group will receive two statements to defend in discussion with the rest of the group. It is important that they do not attack the person within the group, but the attitude, and that the tones do not rise and do not cause conflicts.
00:05 25'	Role division and group discussion	In the central part, participants defend assigned statements from the rest of the group, regardless of whether they agree with them. Each discussion lasts up to 2 minutes until the group discusses all 8 statements. Statements: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Climate change is nowadays the most important human rights issue. 2. Parents have the right to punish a child if he or she misbehaves. 3. Minorities should be positively discriminated. 4. LGBTIQ couples should have the right to adopt children, under the same conditions as heterosexual couples. 5. Young people from the age of 16 should be given the right to vote. 6. Young people should be provided with free education, including college. 7. After divorce, the child should belong to the mother. 8. Men should serve military service.
00:30 10'	Plenary discussion	After the group discussion, the facilitator asks the following questions and leads the discussion: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Which rules were easy for you and which were difficult to advocate? Why? 2. Did you really listen to other members of your group? 3. Which arguments of the opposite party did you accept and which did you not? 4. Which rights would you personally fight for / which are endangered in our environment?
00:40

TOTAL LENGTH: 00:40

Round of rights - block details

00:00
5'

Announcement of debates within groups and clarification of rules

In the introduction, the facilitator explains that today's method will be a form of debate, but that everyone will be divided into groups of four and that everyone within the group will receive two statements to defend in discussion with the rest of the group. It is important that they do not attack the person within the group, but the attitude, and that the tones do not rise and do not cause conflicts.

00:05
25'

Role division and group discussion

In the central part, participants defend assigned statements from the rest of the group, regardless of whether they agree with them. Each discussion lasts up to 2 minutes until the group discusses all 8 statements.

Statements:

1. Climate change is nowadays the most important human rights issue.
2. Parents have the right to punish a child if he or she misbehaves.
3. Minorities should be positively discriminated.
4. LGBTIQ couples should have the right to adopt children, under the same conditions as heterosexual couples.
5. Young people from the age of 16 should be given the right to vote.
6. Young people should be provided with free education, including college.
7. After divorce, the child should belong to the mother.
8. Men should serve military service.

00:30
10'

Plenary discussion

After the group discussion, the facilitator asks the following questions and leads the discussion:

1. Which rules were easy for you and which were difficult to advocate? Why?
2. Did you really listen to other members of your group?
3. Which arguments of the opposite party did you accept and which did you not?
4. Which rights would you personally fight for / which are endangered in our environment?